

NSHG-PM 2025

Scientific Symposium and Special Lecture Programme

Time	Monday 2 June, 2025	Time	Tuesday 3 June, 2025
Symposium: AI Opportunities in Nordic Healthcare Jerne Auditorium, Mærsk Tower, Panum Institute, Copenhagen, Denmark		Special Lecture Jerne Auditorium, Mærsk Tower, Panum Institute, Copenhagen, Denmark
13:00 - 15:00	Session 1: UK-Nordic Precision Medicine Opportunities	13:00 - 14:00	Unnur Valdimarsdóttir , University of Iceland, Iceland Presentation of results from the NordForsk-funded international COVIDMENT consortium using multimodal data to study COVID and Mental Health in more than 550,000 Nordics and other Europeans.
13:00 - 13:30	Sir Rory Collins , Oxford University, United Kingdom UK Biobank: scale, depth, duration ... but, most importantly, accessibility
13:30 - 14:00	Kári Stefánsson , deCODE genetics, Iceland The study of human diversity
14:00 - 14:25	Lili Milani , Estonian Biobank, Estonia Machine learning in the Estonian Biobank
14:25 - 14:50	Aarno Palotie , Institute for Molecular Medicine (FIMM), Finland The FinnGen study, an example of public-private partnership in health research
14:50 - 15:20	Panel discussion with speakers
15:20 - 15:45	Break
15:45 - 17:30	Session 2: AI Opportunities in Healthcare
15:45 - 16:10	Olli Kallioniemi , SciLifeLab/University of Helsinki, Finland
16:10 - 16:35	Pål Njølstad , University of Bergen, Norway Harnessing Machine Learning for Genetic and Clinical Insights in Diabetes
16:35 - 17:00	Ulrik Nicolai de Lichtenberg , GEFION, Danish Centre for AI Innovation Gefion - Denmark's new AI supercomputer and its impact on Genomics and life sciences
17:00 - 17:30	Panel discussion with speakers
17:30 - 19:00	Reception with posters		